Hiring Team, Finance

Crown Lift Trucks Canada

Dear Hiring Team,

I'm applying for the Finance Accounting Intern position for Summer 2026. I'm a second-year Bachelor of Commerce student at the University of Guelph, concentrating in Management, Economics, and Finance, and I'm looking for a summer where I can apply my coursework in financial accounting and Excel-based analysis to the day-to-day rhythm of a finance team: reconciliations, AP/AR, month-end working papers, and reporting cycles. The scope of this role lines up directly with where I want to spend the next four months.

Last summer, as Office Administrator at a small car-wash operation in Ottawa, I did a smaller-scale version of much of what's in your job description. I built and maintained a multi-tab Excel and Google Sheets workbook tracking daily, weekly, and month-to-date revenue across service lines, using pivot tables, SUMIFS, and VLOOKUP to roll the numbers into a one-page summary the owner reviewed each Monday. I reconciled point-of-sale transactions against the appointment book and supplier invoices, flagging the recurring sources of variance (voided tickets, unbilled add-ons, occasional double charges), so they could be corrected before they became month-end problems. I also built a rolling actual-vs-projected variance view comparing each week to a 4-week baseline, and walked ownership through the drivers behind the gaps. It was a small business, but the muscle is the same: keep the records clean, find the discrepancies, and explain the variance.

What I'd bring to Crown Lift Trucks is the detail-orientation and Excel fluency the role calls for, the discipline to handle confidential financial data carefully, and a genuine interest in seeing how a multi-branch dealer with operations across Ontario and Quebec runs its month-end and audit cycles. I'm comfortable working independently on data-entry and reconciliation work, and equally comfortable asking questions when something doesn't tie. I'd be grateful for the chance to learn the AP/AR and reporting side of corporate finance from your team, and to contribute meaningful support during the busy summer months.

I'm based in Mississauga and able to commute to any of the Ontario branches. Thank you for considering my application. I'd welcome the opportunity to speak further.

Sincerely,

Bassam Ahmed
